Witness Declares Attorney General Headed Conspiracy to Exhibit Films of Prize Fight Without Interference and That William M. Burns Was 'Standing In' On the Deal.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, March 18.—The name of Attorney-General Daugherty was directly linked with the fight films deal in testimony today before the Senate's Daugherty investigating committee.
Gerald O. Holdridge, a former department of justice agent, testified that he had been told by Jap Muma, New York correspondent for the Cincinnati Enquirer, and one of those named as involved in the arrangement, that the attorney general himself was head of the conspiracy to show the pictures throughout the country without department of justice interference.
The witness declared that Muma also had said that William J. Burns, chief of the department's bureau of investigation, was "standing in" on the deal.
Holdridge also said Muma told him that the attorney general said to him:
"If you put this across you ought to get a big cut, not less than 50 per cent."

IMPRESSIVE REGRET

TOWN TOPICS

More than $31,000 was pledged yesterday to the budget of the First Presbyterian church for the fiscal year beginning April 1st. The sum of $27,500 is sought this year to carry on the church and its work in the home and foreign mission fields as well as the support usually given to educational institutions sponsored by this denomination. Dr. Joseph Duglinson, pastor of the church last night made the announcement of the results achieved by the committees who visited the church membership yesterday afternoon, stating that 25 members of the church remain to be solicited. There is no doubt that the full quota will be secured within the next few days. The sum of $15,000 is required for the expenses of the church and $7,200 is being asked for foreign missions a dozen or more other items making up the church's assumed obligation.

James Bustard, supervisor of sales of the Danville Tobacco Association collapsed in a faint Sunday morning at Emphany church a few minutes after Rev. Malcolm S. Taylor, the rector had begun his sermon. The heat of the day is believed to have caused his sudden illness. No doctor was in the church at the moment but Dr. E. H. Miller was summoned from Main street church nearby and applied the necessary restoratives, the congregation being dismissed in view of the temporary confusion which prevailed. Mr. Bustard was removed to his home on West Main street and today was reported as having overcome the sudden illness.

An open forum meeting of the members of the Danville Chamber of Commerce will be held at eight o'clock tomorrow night in the auditorium of the Masonic Temple. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the local problems and suggested remedies for them which will be presented by an address by Major LeRoy Hodges of the state Chamber of Commerce who came here recently and made a deep impression on his hearers. What the organization is striving to do for the state.

A called council meeting is expected to be held this month in order that action may be taken on the ordinance providing for the issue of $100,000 electric light improvement bonds. Action could not be taken at the last meeting because the meeting was held 29 days after the previous meeting and the law provides that such ordinances shall lie over for 30 days.

Judge Withers signed the final orders of the March term of the corporation court today, thus closing the term. The next term will begin on April 7th and will be devoted to civil matters entirely.
The political situation in Danville shows no immediate sign of emerging from the apathy which has surrounded it during the past few weeks. The municipal election is set for June 1st and no formal announcement has yet been made by any candidate though it is well understood that Mayor Woodling will seek re-election and will be opposed by Howard Guernsey. Guernsey's body has been found and he is expected to announce his candidacy for the city council and public interest just now appears to be concentrating on the half a million dollar bond issue and that only in mild form.

Prince of Wales Has Another Fall; Is Given Advice

(By The Associated Press.)
LONDON, March 17.—The Prince of Wales twelfth riding accident, in which he was thrown while participating in a race at Arbor Field Saturday, is made the text of editorial homilies by several newspapers, which tell him that the people are much concerned over the manner in which he continues to risk his life. The writers remind him that he is not a private person, but a nation's asset and say that although he is entitled to recreation, it is true he imposed restraint on his plucky spirits.

The laborite newspaper, the Daily Herald, insinuates that he spends his time in the most idle and frivolous and his nights dancing. It adds that it is time he took life more seriously and devoted his energies to occupations more worth while.

While some of the writers suggest the prince's fall is a warning, others say in view of the frequency with which he rides, his crashes are in no wise unusual.

Effort to Reduce Food Waste In U.S.

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
WASHINGTON, March 17.—An effort to bring about reduction of the tremendous annual waste of food in the United States due to the shipping of low grade products is being made by the Federal Agricultural Administration in the establishment of federal grades for farm products and inspection of products at shipping points.
Railroad loss and damage claims on fruits and vegetables alone in one year run as high as $14,000,000, officials estimate and they believe cutting down this and other losses should assist in reducing the spread between prices received by producers and those paid by consumers.

Man Sentenced to Hang For Killing Brother-in-Law, Gains Freedom.

(By The Associated Press.)
ATLANTA, March 17.—J. B. Satterfield, under sentence to be hanged for the murder of his brother-in-law, R. H. Hart, escaped last night from the Fulton county jail where he had been confined awaiting execution.
Satterfield killed his brother-in-law here December 27, 1921, following a dispute over the estate of Satterfield's wife, a sister of Hart. He escaped in August last year was arrested in Los Angeles, Calif., where he was living under an assumed name.
He was brought back here, tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged.
The State Supreme Court last week denied Satterfield a new trial and the condemned man issued a statement, saying he was resigned to his fate.
Officials of the county jail declined to give reporters details of the matter, but Solicitor General John A. Boykin confirmed news of the escape. Satterfield had been confined on the second floor of the prison.

Cotton Growing to Be Discussed Here Tomorrow

Interest in cotton growing in this neighborhood and a general desire to secure trustworthy information as to the production of this crop and the labor it entails are expected to produce a good attendance in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow morning when experts will be here to give the benefit of their views on the subject.

The meeting will be held at 11:30 o'clock at which time J. A. Evans associated with the United States Bureau of Agriculture and an expert on cotton growing will be here to make an address, also T. B. Hurcheson of the state agricultural department's extension division will be present. Several of the directors of the Danville Chamber of Commerce and members of the agricultural committee through whose activity tomorrow's meeting was made possible will be also on hand to hear a matter discussed which is not without important relationship to the welfare of Danville. It has been made plain, however, that in staging the meeting here tomorrow, the chamber of Commerce is not taking the initiative in advising farmers to undertake cotton growing. The primary desire is to afford farmers an opportunity of hearing the whole question discussed by an authority and enabling them to secure first hand information. Interest in cotton production in this section is partly the result of successful experiments which have been made by several farmers of the extension who realized a good price on their product.

The hour of the meeting has been advertised as 11:30 o'clock. This, however, was changed this morning to eleven o'clock, in order to permit of ample time for the talks on the cotton-growing subject.

Combinations For Purchases Abroad Urged By Hoover

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, March 17.—Legislation to permit Americans to combine for purchasing raw materials abroad is urged by Secretary Hoover in a letter to Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, in which he cites an authority on money and exchange to industry or agriculture actually or potentially in control of foreign monopolies.

Available supplies of sisal, nitrates, iodine, potash, crude rubber, gutta percha, and other commodities essential to industry or agriculture are controlled in greater or less degree by foreign combinations or governments and, in consequence, prices are undoubtedly much higher than would otherwise be the case.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS BEGINS TODAY

The Young Men's Christian Association's annual campaign for new members formally opened this morning and will continue throughout this week. Although a few of the team members were in the field on Saturday working the entire force of campaigners got out in earnest today. No specific quota has been set but it is hoped by those in charge to obtain a thousand members. Reports of each day's work by the various churches will be served beginning at 5:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. Each meeting will be adjourned promptly at 7:30 o'clock on each night, in order to permit workers to have other engagements to fill them. This fast rule will be applied in an effort to obtain a hundred per cent attendance, with each worker cognizant of the fact that they can get away early.

An interesting sidelight in connection with the local campaign is the fact that a contest is being waged with the Lynchburg organization which is also beginning its campaign today. Each organization will wire reports of the day's work to each other, thereby enabling them to watch the results more closely and with added interest.
While next Saturday is the date for expiration of the campaign, it is expected that it will not last this long, in view of the interest shown and increased efforts on the part of the workers.
Committees of ladies of the various churches will have charge of the supper to be served each night. Mrs. F. O. Kidd is chairman of the ladies' joint committees which is composed of members of Methodist, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Baptist, and other churches and which will have charge tonight. New committees of other churches will serve on each night.
With the exception of the boys' teams, the personnel of the other teams and their captains have been published. The boys' teams follow:
"Red Birds"—Team No. 1, Joe Weber, captain—Moffatt, Calhoun, Nolan and Richard Blair.
Team No. 3, Franklin Dyer, captain—Rube Moffatt, Alger Ruffin, Ezzell Cook, Theo. Noderer and Julian Meade.
"Blue Birds"—Team No. 15, Hinton Gwynn, captain—Marvin Watson, Hartwell Harrison, Geo. S. Hughes, Robt. Farley, and Matt Jordan.
Team No. 16, Eugene McCubbins, captain—Kerr Farley, Earl Rucker, Julian Nance, Alfred Tucker and Harold Motley.

Shelton Case Is a Mystery; Still In a Daze

GREENSBORO, NC., March 17.—Seventy-two hours after he was found with his skull fractured, lying near the Danville highway as it leads through a wood near White Oak, C. M. Shelton, 27 years old, of 76 Twentieth street, White Oak, last night was resting on a cot in St. Leo's hospital, still in an unconscious state. There is a chance that the young man will recover, it was said by the attending physician.
Since he was carried to the hospital last Thursday Shelton during the greater part of the time has remained in a coma. To nearly every question asked of him he says, "Yes." Occasionally he talks in a rambling sort of way. When some of his relatives called to see him yesterday he recognized them, but he could not talk much.
Shelton is not able to make a coherent statement concerning the manner in which he was injured. What would he say if he could tell the police just what happened when his skull was fractured? What, but him? Was it an automobile, or was it a stone hurled by someone who wished to take his life? If Shelton could speak coherently he would be asked to answer these questions. But, as he lies on his cot, he merely says, "Yes," to all queries.

The theory at first prevailed that Shelton was knocked down on the highway by a passing automobile. He was discovered lying near the highway about 7 o'clock Thursday evening by Ashley Pegram. The latter, finding Shelton with his head in a pool of blood, hurried to Walter's garage about 300 yards distant. At the garage about an automobile was obtained and the injured man was carried to the hospital.

Police officers at once started an investigation. By some it is believed the young man was struck by an automobile, knocked to the roadside, falling in such a manner that the back of his head struck a sharp cornered stone. This, it seemed, was a plausible theory, since it appeared as if an automobile had been in the area. On the corner of the stone which is supposed to have struck Shelton, blood and strands of hair were discovered.

When Shelton was found mud was discovered on his knees, it was claimed. This circumstance, it is contended, bears out a theory that Shelton was struck in the back of the head with a rock, and after being hit, fell, falling first on his knees.
There have been persons who have been seen near the stone, but their reasons for wanting to see Shelton put out of the way. But these rumors are being vigorously denied by some who claim Shelton is a popular man and that he hasn't an enemy in the world.

Regardless of all theories which have thus far been advanced it would appear there is a certain element of mystery surrounding the incident. Shelton is described as being a rather tall and stalwart man.

GOVT. SUT TO ANNUL CALIF., LEASES FILED

Charges Bribery In Asking Cancellation of Naval Oil Land Lease In State.

(By The Associated Press.)
LOS ANGELES, March 17.—Suits to cancel the lease of California Naval Oil lands to the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company as well as its accompanying agreements for construction and stocking by that company of naval oil storage facilities at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, was filed by the government here today.

The bill of complaint charges that bribery entered into the making of the agreements as well as alleging fraud, conspiracy and illegality, as in the case of the suit filed March 13 at Cheyenne, Wyoming, with reference to the Teapot Dome lease and contracts. As in the Teapot suit, the government's special counsel, Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, asked the United States District Court to issue a temporary injunction stopping the production of oil, appoint receivers to take possession and control of the oil lands and to enter a final decree declaring void and cancelling the lease and associated contracts.

The Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company and its subsidiary, the Pan-American Petroleum Company, were made defendants in the action. E. L. Doherty, president of the company, and Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, are charged in the bill with conspiracy to defraud the United States "for the private gain of Fall and Doherty, and for the creation of certain rights in the defendants." Fall was to receive certain rewards from said Doherty, the bill avers, adding that the payment to Fall of $190,000 by Doherty in November, 1922, was "than certain reward therefor promised."

In developing the conspiracy, the complaint charges, Fall and Doherty "by false, fraudulent and untrue representations to the United States, President and Congress, authorized the leasing of certain lands to the Navy Department, it adds was likewise induced to proceed with the transaction, although the project in fact was declared to be 'without authority of law.'"

Proceeding under his understanding with Doherty, the complaint continues, Fall, purporting to act on behalf of the United States, invited Doherty to the California naval oil reserves. The proposals, however, it adds, were "so drawn that no one but the defendant Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company could or would bid thereon," the object being to permit this corporation to "make a bid not in competition with any other, but as the basis of a special, secret and non-competitive contract with the United States."

The Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company is said to have proceeded with the acquisition of the royalty oil due the United States, while the subsidiary is said to have continued drilling wells and extracting gas and oil from the leased reserve area. The removal of the oil is claimed to be a continuing damage to the United States.

Of the arrangements the bill asserts that the "transactions under said agreements and said lease, and the writing and recording of the same, were done in a fraudulent and dishonest manner together that the plaintiff (the United States) cannot obtain full relief except by the joinder of both corporate defendants, whereby in fact and law but one defendant."

CHARGES PRES. COOLIDGE HOLDING OFFICIALS FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, March 17.—Attorney-General Daugherty is being kept in office by President Coolidge solely because of Mr. Daugherty's "supposed political influence" in the forthcoming campaign, Senator Garaway, Democrat, Arkansas, today charged in the Senate.
"Everyone knows there would be a quick change of attorney-general if Mr. Coolidge were not a candidate for re-election," said the Arkansas senator.
"I am not criticizing the president in this connection but it is certain he doesn't dare to let Daugherty go simply and only because of political reasons."

AMERICAN ARMY PLANES OFF ON LONG JOURNEY

Would Speed Up Removal of Mail to Postoffice

Postmaster Frank D. Lumpkin expects to take up this week with the Southern Railway authorities and the Postoffice Department, the question of re-arranging trackage facilities at the station here in the hope of being able to expedite the removal of incoming mail from the platform to the postoffice. Delays in the movement of mail have resulted in complaint from patrons and it has also worked to the disadvantage of the postoffice personnel since they are required to remain at work until the mail has been worked and this causes a good deal of uncertainty in the length of time they spend at the postoffice.

While delays have been noted from time to time since Christmas, the condition complained of specifically at this time is the schedule since the recent snow storm and the prostration of wires. The postmaster said this morning that no criticism could be voiced as to delays during the past week, immediately after the storm because the condition was one which could not be controlled but the delays since that time are the prime cause of the representations now to be made.

Mr. Lumpkin hopes to secure a re-arrangement of switching so as to throw the trains from the north bearing mail on the tracks close to the station. An average of 20 to 30 minutes delay is recorded daily, he says on account of the inability of the station porters to move the mail from the platform to the trucks because of intervening trains. The railway company, however, has an argument against this by saying that the traveling public would be subjected to the danger of crossing the tracks and would have some distance to go to reach the steps leading to the street level from the platform.

Notwithstanding the conditions, Mr. Lumpkin hopes to bring about some remedy for the situation especially insofar as it relates to the removal of mail sacks from the station.

Southern Rail Men Dine Here; Discuss Problems

Nearly one hundred railroad men holding responsible position on the Southern Railway company, gathered here on Sunday, dining at the Burton Hotel, where a general discussion of problems arising on transportation questions was had. This was one of a series of meetings Mr. Lumpkin hopes to bring about some remedy for the situation especially insofar as it relates to the removal of mail sacks from the station.

MAN ANSWERING DESCRIPTION OF GERALD CHAPMAN CAPTURED

GARDNER MOTOR COMPANY
SHOWING DODGE MODELS

In addition to their standard types of cars, Dodge Brothers are now producing a special type-A sedan, special coupe, a large roadster and special 4-passenger coupe.

The standard types consist of the touring car, roadster, business coupe, 4-passenger coupe, type-A sedan and type-B sedan.

Dodge Brothers believe there is a distinct demand, especially in metropolitan centers, for a type of car with more complete equipment than that carried by the standard types. They have realized this and have equipped special type-A sedan, 4-passenger coupe, touring car, and roadster.

In handling the special equipment, they have been very careful to introduce such features as will increase the beauty and comfort of the standard types without reacting unfavorably on Dodge Brothers cars in the second-hand market.

For these special types, the Dodge Brothers have added special equipment consisting of nickel-plated radiator shell and lights, nickel-plated front and rear bumpers, special striping on body and fenders of the hood, rear view mirror, automatic windshield wiper, scuff plates, motorometer and lock.

MAIL FIRE AT HOTEL
PITTSYLVANIA, SOON OUT

The Patton Street and West End fire departments Saturday afternoon at 3:55 responded to an alarm turned in from Box 45 at the corner of Patton and Rice streets and on arriving found that the call was the result of a small smoldering blaze between the basement and first floor of the Pittsylvania underneath room No. 123, White, Captain of the colored fire, claiming to have detected the smoke, which soon filled the hallway. He and other employees were dashing water on the burning heaterboard walls when the firemen arrived and completed the task with a stream of chemical. The damage was slight. The origin is not known, but it was thought that a carelessly thrown cigarette had caused the fire and set it to ignite, but this could not be said with certainty.

YOUR GARDEN

ARTICLE No. 12.

GARDEN PRACTICE

There are two classes of insects against which the gardener has constantly to be on guard. One is the "biting" or "chewing" species. They attack the foliage and often fruits of the plant.

In the case of potato bugs, cabbage worms, most caterpillars and other pests.

Arsenate of lead will ordinarily dispose of them. But the preparation must be handled with care as it is a poison.

You can best apply it with a common hand-spray pump.

Paris green is also an effective insecticide.

To prepare it for use, mix one spoonful of paris green with 10 spoonfuls of slaked lime. Mix thoroughly and then empty on a square piece of cheesecloth.

Next pick up the four corners of the cheesecloth and shake it over your rows, gently shaking the contents over the plants.

After using such poisons be very sure to wash the vegetables thoroughly before using.

For combating sucking insects ranging in size from a needle-point up, such preparations as "nikoten," or "black leaf 40," are recommended.

Sucking pests usually adhere in masses to the under side of leaves. Some hard-shelled insects must be removed by hand as they seem immune from poison. But at any rate clear your garden of the invaders before they get the ripening fruit and flowers.

To prevent potato scab, mix one-third pint of formaldehyde in 10 gallons of water, put your seed potatoes in the solution two hours then cut and plant.

For blight and other fungus diseases on tomatoes, potatoes and other root crops, spray with Bordeaux mixture.

It is also a good practice to cover some young plants with mosquito-netting while they are attaining growth should they seem subject to parasite attack.

Sprinkling lime around the stem (not under the soil) of cucumber vines will halt ravage by beetles.

Tobacco preparations are generally adapted to suppression of insect invasion in flower beds.

In addition to keeping your garden free of pests, don't forget to give the plants plenty of air provided by frequent stirring of the soil.

Don't sprinkle with any device which will tear up the soil. Hoe the ground to prevent baking in the sun. However, don't do your hoeing while the soil is still wet. That will make clumps.

Crossing experiments are open to the gardener whose plot is in successful bloom.

To cross plants for the purpose of obtaining new and interesting varieties, a camel's hair brush and magnifying glass should constitute the equipment of the average amateur.

The best at first, to cross a flower of one pure color with that of another, as results can best be watched in that way.

The poppy, gladiolus and petunia are especially adapted to such experiments.

Aided by the magnifying glass, remove the pollen from one flower with your camel's hair brush and transfer the pollen to the second bloom of a different color.

Carefully mark with a string or cloth the flower used in the experiment and collect the seed in the fall by tying a paper bag over the crossed bloom.

From this stage you may progress on and on to what may lead to a fascinating study.

WED 19 YEARS, APPEAL TO COURT TO GET PRESENT

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

BERLIN, Mar. 15.—After nineteen years of married life the crown prince and crown princess of Germany have been forced to appeal to the courts to obtain the gorgeous wedding present given them by all the mayors of the Prussian cities. It was a table set of 1900 pieces of silver and crystal for thirty persons, designed especially for the young couple by leading artists of the country.

The embossing and cutting of those works of art took years. They were not finished until during the war. The crown prince was away at the war and the princess agreed that the mayors deposit their present in Reichenbank's vaults.

The crown prince is back and the family is reunited and trying to collect the loose ends of its scattered and diminished treasures but now the Reichsbank refuses to turn over the silver and crystal wedding present, claiming that the Prussian mayors failed to have the donation certified by a notary in 1906.

Besides, many of the donors are no longer German, such as Danzig, Katowice, and others, and therefore a special session of the Prussian mayors will be called in Berlin to decide whether they are still willing to give the former crown prince his wedding present.

CONSIDER LEASE OF N. & W.
By The Associated Press.

ROANOKE, Va., March 15.—President N. D. Maher today announced a committee of four members of the Norfolk and Western Railway board of directors to attend the suggested lease of Norfolk and Western to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

The committee is composed of D. W. Flickewer, Roanoke; F. S. Royster, Norfolk; E. H. Alden, Philadelphia, and S. P. Bush, Columbus.

No date has been fixed for the joint conference with the Pennsylvania committee. On Wednesday President Maher was authorized to appoint a committee of the board to confer with a similar committee of the Pennsylvania board to see if such a lease could be negotiated and to report back to the board.

Police Sergeant Edwards, Patrolmen Collier, Reid and Dameron acting Saturday on a straight tip, frequented the vicinity of the Southern railway coal-chute northeast of the city for several hours in the effort to intercept two or three negro transporters of liquor. Finally the vigil was rewarded by the arrival of the burden-bearers, but the official squad emerged so suddenly as to frighten the quarry, who made a springing record and a getaway dropping and leaving behind them a five-gallon container filled with the distillation of corn, sometimes known as moonshine, hooch, bootleg-stuff, etc.

The officers somewhat chagrined by the too hasty flush of the conveyance, brought in the collection of such trophies accumulated at police headquarters.

Army Aviators Begin Flight Around World Today

They Are Pathfinders

Uncle Sam has overlooked no hints in making preparations for the army's air voyage around the world. Six officers have been out in the field for months, establishing routes and making arrangements with foreign countries for passage of the American planes. The three shown here have been in the field the longest. Left to right—Lieutenant Clifford C. Nutt, Lieutenant Clarence E. Crumrine and Lieutenant Clayton Bissell. Bissell has charge of the first leg of the flight, Los Angeles to the Aleutian Islands. Nutt controls the hop from the Aleutians to Japan. Crumrine controls the last leg, London back to Los Angeles.

ARMY BIRDMEN WONT TRY FOR SPEED RECORD IN WORLD TRIP

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—Will American aviators set a new speed record for circumnavigating the earth on their world-girdling flight? No. According to Major F. L. Martin, in command of the army's expedition, there will be no attempt to beat the records of Nellie Ely, John Henry Mears or Jules Verne's fictitious character, Phileas Fogg.

The expedition, Martin says, expects to return to its starting point, Los Angeles, some time in September, approximately six months after the first "hop off."

Although the flying time consumed by the army argonauts will be much less than the 36 days required by Mears to establish his globe-trotting record, there will be frequent stops for refueling, reconditioning and charting, and long sustained flights will be made only when necessary.

Aviation experts have figured that the airplane, in its present stage of development, is capable of flying around the world in 300 hours, actual flying time. The aviator, however, would be required to spend much more time than that on the ground between hops.

In a few years, they predict, so many refinements will have been added to the airplane that a globe flight will be possible in 10 or 12 days.

Meanwhile, however, the records of the oldtimers appear safe. The breaking up of the Trans-Siberian Railroad has lengthened the route against the attempts of future record globe trotters.

WAS RUNDOWN AND WEAK, SHE SAYS

"Dreco" Breaks Up Stomach Trouble, Constipation and Nervousness, Restoring Health.

Every day some woman tells of her relief through Dreco, the great tonic made from the pure undiluted juices of twelve remarkable leaves, roots, bark and herbs. Mrs. Claude Wethington, West Durham, N. C., says:

"I know there are thousands of men and women suffering right now as I did for so long a time. I couldn't even do my work well. My but I was run-down. I looked but a shadow of my former self. Deep rings under my eyes. A sallow complexion. A sickly lifeless look in my eyes."

MRS. CLAUDE WETHINGTON. "The corners of my mouth were drawn down by the pains I suffered from indigestion and gastritis, that would grip me. After every meal I was doubled up with cramps. Gas rising from my stomach made me fight to breathe."

"Every once in a while black spots would dance before my eyes. I would feel from dizziness, feeling faint. This deplorable condition made me nervous and worried me."

"Nothing relieved me of constipation that gripped my system sapping it of all strength."

"Dreco saved me. This wonderful medicine soon put me in good health. I look fine. Even my friends notice and comment on my improvement. I feel stronger. All trace of constipation and stomach trouble have disappeared. I sleep soundly and since taking Dreco I haven't been bothered with dizziness."

"Everyone should get Dreco to restore them to good health. They can profit by my experience."

To those persons who suffer from headaches, gastritis, nervousness, constipation, poor sleep, weak kidneys, lay liver, a deranged stomach or impure blood, Dreco will prove a wonder to you. Try it today and see how quick the results will come.

Dreco is made by the famous David H. Patton & Bros. Laboratories, Baltimore, Md., and is being specially increased in this section by Patterson Drug Co. and sold by druggists everywhere—adv.

CAPT. CHARLIE ALTROCK TELLS HIS EXPERIENCE

Gives Tanlac Credit For Bringing Him to "Port of Good Health." Was Weak as Sail Without a Wind.

"A picturesque man of the sea is 'Captain Charlie' (F. C.) Altrock, that genial and hearty mariner who for the past twenty years has been operating motor boats and small steamers in Norfolk harbor. And it was the typical language of the sea, the 'Captain Charlie' recently paid tribute to Tanlac, the medicine which declares brought him 'to the port of good health' again."

"My appetite and stomach muddled," says he, "and I couldn't even eat my favorite sea foods. I nearly forgot how to sleep and felt as weak and flabby as a sail without any wind in it. Many days I wouldn't even take my boat out. My liver was sluggish as an old mud scow overlaid with harbor dredgings and it looked like I'd be a landlubber the rest of my days."

"But Tanlac took me off the rocks and brought me into port in the finest kind of trim. With all my ailments scuttled, I eat and digest everything, sleep like a log and feel so fine I never get too heavy a cargo to suit me. I always keep a bottle of Tanlac aboard."

"Captain Charlie" resides at 81-2 Stop, Willoughby St., Norfolk, Va. His mail address is 138 W. Main St., Norfolk.

The Citizens of Danville Now Have Access to Heathized Butter And Ice Cream.

During the past century many sweeping changes have been made in the mechanical world. The scientists of the world have vied with each other in the production of machinery and methods to perfect the foodstuffs on which the health and progress of the people, both physically and mentally are in a large measure dependent. That they have been successful, even beyond their fondest hopes and dreams, goes without saying. Perhaps the greatest single discovery of the century has been the "HEATHERIZATION PROCESS" of conserving foodstuffs, more especially butter and Ice Cream. The following article which has been reprinted from the Science and Invention section of the Literary Digest tells the story of the "Heatherization Process" in quoting the words of Paul Heath, of Chicago, who made the discovery.

"All food intended for human consumption should be clean. We need to be especially vigilant about dairy products."

"The quarter-pound package of butter became popular because butter so quickly. Bacteria develop, decomposition sets in, and the butter becomes rancid in a very short time."

"What is the cause?"

"Air! Just common, ordinary air! The air we breathe is full of bacteria which are intended for the human lungs, but never to be incorporated into foods."

"In making butter you fill a churn half full of cream, then shut the doors tight, and splash the cream around in the air for three quarters of an hour until the butter gathers. When it has gathered we find 10 per cent. of the volume of the butter consists of microscopic bubbles of air. The Department of Agriculture conducted exhaustive research work upon this 10 per cent. of air. A bulletin setting forth that 'off flavors' in butter were caused directly by oxidation due to the imprisoned air bubbles."

"Several years later the Department sent its butter expert, L. A. Rogers, to address the Bingham Buttermakers Convention and he told them that air was the deteriorating factor in butter; that they could add to their quality by so manipulating the butter in the churn that the least possible amount of air be incorporated."

"In addition to food deterioration there is still another most important and vital food loss, chargeable to oxidative processes. Dr. Hess points out that the degree to which dairy products will retain vitamins is proportional to the degree of protection from oxidative processes given to the dairy products in handling. In other words, exposure to air destroys vitamins."

"It has been known that this air pollution would have to continue indefinitely until some scientist should work out a practical solution."

"Vacuum churning presented a possible solution and early investigators sought to stop butter deterioration losses and contamination by this means. It was condemned as impractical. I was satisfied the problem had to be attacked from a new angle and conceived the idea of replacing the bubbles of air with pure, dustless bubbles of a non-oxidizing atmosphere instead."

"From the large number of gases considered, only one measured up to the requirements—carbon dioxide. All carbon dioxide is of clean flavor, else it could not be used for beverage purposes. It is over 50 per cent. heavier than air, making it admirable for the replacement process."

"Having found the ideal atmosphere, I started to experiment. I filled two churns from the same vat of cream and started them churning simultaneously. The cream in one was contaminated as usual by splashing for forty-five minutes in air. I forced the air out of the other churn by admitting carbon dioxide under pressure at the bottom of the churn. The carbon dioxide bubbling up through the cream forced the lighter air out of the small open vent at the top of churn. The vent was then closed, the supply was shut off and the churn revolved for three minutes. Upon opening the air vent there was inward suction, proving that so much carbon dioxide had been dissolved in the cream that a partial vacuum had been created. The vacuum was broken by admitting more carbon dioxide, and churning was continued for forty minutes."

"The carbonated butter had a much better flavor than the air-churned product, because the good flavor of the cream had been intensified. Subsequent experiments with had flavored cream showed that carbonation also intensified bad flavors; furthermore, that in cream passed through unsanitary pipes the taint would be magnified by carbon dioxide."

"I was not surprised at this result, because carbonated water intensifies the flavor of fountain drinks. Clearly, carbon dioxide was an acid test of quality, only creameries receiving good cream being able to use it."

"Bacteriological reports showed amazing reductions, the count decreasing from 1,400,000 air-churned to 7,650 carbonated."

"It was found that by getting rid of contamination, 'free oxygen and bacteria, carbonated butter develops remarkable keeping quality. One shipment was lost two months and finally showed up in the possession of another railroad. The distributor thought it must surely be spoiled, but found it as fresh and sweet as the just taken from the churn."

"With 10 per cent. of air destructive in butter, what shall we say of ice-cream, which contains 50 per cent. of air? Where the cleanest air introduces 216 dust particles in half-ounce patty of butter, the average dish of ice-cream contains 10,500 dust particles, even when made in clean air."

"Because ice-cream is the favorite food of children, we cannot be too particular about making it safe. A brick of ice-cream sees eleven manufacturing steps before it goes to the dealer. Beating 50 per cent. of air into it is one of these steps, and we cannot, without challenging our intelligence, call it anything but a process of contamination."

"Carbonation is the method employed by two hundred manufacturers in the United States and Canada; and the process has been used two years there has never been a single sickness from carbonated dairy products."

The use of carbon in protecting butter and ice-cream is merely the forerunner of bigger accomplishments to come in the handling of milk. The instant milk leaves the cow's udder it becomes contaminated. The force of the milk stream whips air into the partially filled pails. Because carbon dioxide is 53 per cent. heavier than air, it is practical, economical and certainly expedient that the milk stream travel through a carbonic atmosphere into a specially constructed pail previously filled with carbon dioxide. A fifty-pound drum of carbon dioxide will protect from air two thousand gallons of farmers' milk, at a cost of seven mills per gallon."

"The tremendous reduction of bacteria by agitating cream in a churn carbonic pressure compresses me that the application of pressure is desirable to replace pasteurization of milk, thus retaining full vitamin content, and making unnecessary the precipitation by heat of albuminoids and ash constituents. I believe the above method upon which I am working is destined to be the solution of safer and better milk, as the processes describe have produced better butter and ice-cream."

In carrying out our policy of looking after the best interest of our patrons, we have secured the exclusive right to handle the "Heathized Products" in the City of Danville. Be sure that you ask for "Heathized" Butter and Ice Cream.

However, —comma—

By Maurice Henle

NEW YORK, March 17.—Graham Sutton has an uncomfortable habit of making the thoughts of his characters those of the reader. And in "Who Travels Alone" (Brentano's) he has not broken this rule.

He doesn't mind making the reader wince, but he does administer his medicine gently, realizing that the proper medicine cures.

He who travels alone must necessarily lead a lonely life. The very words "Who Travels Alone," have a melancholy ring, and this note of sadness, of sadness is carried through from cover to cover.

"Who Travels Alone" recounts the experiences of John Brett, a young artist of facility. The book opens with Brett a student at Oxford. Then follow months enveloped in the Bohemian life of Paris and London, when he all but loses sight of his purpose in life—art. Love is the force that nearly submerges Brett's genius.

Listen to the words Sutton puts in the mouth of the great Baudin, the master under whom Brett works:

"Love, as it is good enough as a toy, a plaything! But as the serious occupation of an artist... Zut!"

"Who Travels Alone" is one of those rare books a reader hates to put aside until he is finished. Despite its pessimism, it carries you through, mainly due to the smoothness of style.

The book-reading public extends a welcome hand to a newcomer, Ruth Cross, as her first effort, offering "The Golden Cocoon" (Harper's). It is a love story woven by hands deft and sure.

Some of its scenes are placed in Texas, and that fact adds interest to the work. For Miss Cross herself hails from the Lone Star State, and her love tale about Molly contains the note of one who knows whereof she speaks.

Molly is not an exceptional girl, and that is what makes the book human. "I hate men, I hate marrying, I hate children!" Molly says intensely. But human emotions, as young Miss Cross knows, sometimes conquer one's will. There is something about girls from Texas one won't find to the same degree in others. They are not "half-ways." They either hate or love, wound or heal. And this fact, Miss Cross has transferred from the dull wastes of Texas to the pages of her book.

JENKINS INSISTS WOMAN WAS A SUICIDE VICTIM

LEXINGTON, N. C., March 15.—Stoutly insisting that Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, wife of an Appalachian Virginian, druggist, whose body was found in his room yesterday, had killed herself, L. C. Jenkins, chief of police of Thomasville, was lodged in the county jail here today charged with slaying the woman. The woman had been shot through the back, the bullet going entirely through her body.

Several bankers and business men of this place attended the meeting in Danville on Friday at which the Farm Credit Bank was temporarily organized and several from here were placed on committee to effect the permanent organization. This bank will be of much benefit to this section in that it will come to the aid of the farmers just at the time help is most needed (planting time) and the members of the Co-ops can have their participating certificates used as collateral and in that way very large sums of money will be let loose in the aid of business and will relieve the pressure that merchants are now feeling in this section.

The home of Mrs. William Smith in South Chatham on Friday afternoon was the scene of a brilliant assemblage, the occasion being a St. Patrick's Rook party in which the emerald green predominated in both decorations and refreshments. General tables were filled and the game was one of pleasure from start to finish. The serving of an elegant course at its conclusion added very much to the pleasure of the afternoon.

Mrs. James L. Tredway returned this week from Lynchburg, where she has been spending some time with her daughters.

Mrs. C. J. DeBoe while busy about her housework on Friday had the misfortune to overturn a vessel of boiling water, scalding one foot very painfully, from which she suffered very much.

Charles L. Griffith, Edward B. Hall, G. E. Thompson and W. E. Cuthbert were among those attending the shows and other amusements in Danville this week.

Miss Ella Gray is the guest of her brother, Thomas J. Gray.

Mrs. L. J. Law, for several weeks sick with pneumonia, is improving very rapidly.

Mrs. J. M. Compton passed away at the home of her husband about
